

DOWN-TOWN POSTAL STATION OPENS TUESDAY

Tardy Arrival of Furniture Delays
Service at Eleventh Street
Office.

The opening of Washington's down-town post office, which was scheduled for tomorrow at 514 11th street, is delayed one day on account of the tardy arrival of the furniture. It will, however, be opened Tuesday. Postmaster Merritt O. Chance said last night.

This down-town office comes as result of Postmaster Chance's zeal to meet the convenience of the business interests of the city, which have been petitioning for such a location since the removal of the city post office from the Post Office building at 11th street and Pennsylvania avenue to its new building at Massachusetts avenue and North Capitol street.

This new office is expected to transfer more local business as distinguished from the purely government business than any substitution of the city post office itself.

Equipped Model Station.

The furniture, delay in the arrival of which caused the postponement of the opening, is the equipment of the model station shown at the Panama-Pacific exposition in San Francisco. It is intended to make the new station a model in every respect.

The metal screens are all in place, and the building ready for installation of the equipment tomorrow.

The 11th street station will carry a heavy stock of stamps and stamped paper of every description, so that business men and other patrons of the office can secure supplies in any quantity they desire. It will open with at least $25,000 worth of supplies.

Howard Beall to Be in Charge.

Howard Beall, who has had excellent experience in the postal service, and who has been superintendent of the station at 5th and F streets, known as Station G, will be superintendent of the 11th street station. John H. Simmons, who has been assistant to Mr. Beall, will succeed him in charge at Station G.

The new office will open with a detail of eight clerks, but the force will be enlarged just as soon as increasing business demands.

The office will be open from 7 a. m. until midnight every day except Sundays, when it will be closed all day. There will be at least twenty collections and deliveries of mail each day, and more frequent service will be in force to meet the holiday rush.

All of the details for the workings of the new office have been mapped out, and the schedule arranged, so that just as soon as the furniture is in place the office can start work.

PRESIDENTY REGULATED BY DECREE OF CARRANZA

Executive to Be Elected for Four Years Only—Provisional Chief Magistrate Not Eligible.

MEXICO CITY, September 30.—Gen. Carranza, head of the provisional government of Mexico, today issued a decree limiting the term of a president of the republic to four years, and providing for re-election of the executive.

This is to apply after the holding of the constitutional assembly and subsequent to the election of a president.

The decree provides that if a president dies, the man who fills out his term shall not be eligible for election for another term until a period of four years has elapsed. The man to fill out the term of a president who dies or leaves office is chosen by a two-thirds vote of congress. If that legislative body is in session, if not the permanent constitutional commission shall designate the man until congress convenes.

The president, according to the provisions, is to take office on the 1st of December after the holding of the election. In whole, the decree is a permanent constitutional commission shall designate the man until congress convenes.

A president is allowed to resign only when the cause given is a grave one, and after consideration by congress. The president also must not leave Mexican territory without receiving permission from congress.

A brilliant farewell dance was given last evening at Raucher's by the officers of Troop A, National Guard of the District of Columbia, who depart Monday for El Paso, Tex.

Quantities of flags and guidons were used in the decoration of both ballrooms and a stringed orchestra played for the dancing.

Gen. William E. Harvey, in command at Camp Ordway, was present, as were the following officers: Maj. J. C. Cantelero, U. S. A.; adjutant general district of Columbia; Maj. J. C. Cantelero, U. S. A.; adjutant general district of Columbia; Maj. J. C. Cantelero, U. S. A.; adjutant general district of Columbia.

The guests, numbering about a hundred, included the wives of the officers and members of the troop and the ladies accompanying them.

The supper was served at midnight from a table placed at one end of the small ballroom.
